Dear Morgan:

I have been meaning to write to you for several years, but I keep expecting that at each graduation of DQU students that someone will mention a female student having received the Dorothy Forbes Felland Scholarship. Thus far I have never received any notice as to how many female students have received the award, nor have I ever seen any reference to the award at graduation time. Thus I am having to write this letter.

On December 30, 1991 I entered into an agreement with D-Q University. I agreed to donate some money to DQU for the sole purpose of establishing the Dorothy Forbes Felland Scholarship, which money was to deposited "in the permanent Endowment Fund of D-Q University and to utilize the interest earned therefrom, but not any of the principal" for a scholarship to be awarded to one or two female students, with preference being given to female students of mature age returning to school with the potential of good scholarship.

I continued to donate funds to the Scholarship through December 1994, at which time in excess of $10,000 was the principal. Although not a part of the formal agreement, I spoke with the staff in the financial office about investing the principal in insured certificates of deposit which were earning a very good rate of return. Our legal agreement clearly indicated that "interest" was to be earned on the principal, thus precluding the purchase of stock or other investments producing a dividend, but which might endanger the principal.

I now wish to have a formal accounting of the use of the Forbes Felland scholarship fund. I want to know the names of the students who have received the scholarship and during what years. I would also like to know which female students are currently receiving the scholarship. I realize that the amounts given to any student will be small, but it is still important to me to know that the funds have been put to good use.

Thank you very much.

Sincerely yours,

Jack D. Forbes
